The Becoming The Artist You Are class, focuses on whether you're ready to call yourself an artist or not. Some think they could never be an artist. Others accept it freely. But either way, I believe you're an artist, and I can't wait to tell you why!

We'll talk about some shifts in thinking, little known facts, tips for making the transition, an exercise that really helped me make the leap to call myself an artist.

For beginner to intermediate art students, who really want to continue developing their skills and to take on the identity of an artist.
