WHO IS LORIE?

Lorie Woodruff inspires people to unleash extraordinary levels of success through practical skills and cutting edge technology. She helps everyday people gain the necessary confidence to use simple software to make money in minutes.

As a success coach and author, she continues to disrupt the mindset of the normal way of thinking.

About Lorie

Lorie's vision is to provide individuals and small business owners with the education and resources needed to achieve financial impact. As a top producing real estate entrepreneur and success coach, she believes in helping individuals find wealth in various places. Those places have included real estate, entrepreneurship, marketing and branding, and the currency exchange market.

In the past twenty one years, this multitalented success coach, real estate entrepreneur, author, and host of Lorie TV on YouTube, has garnered some major hits, proving she is far from a one-hit wonder. This entrepreneurial rock star has appeared on TV One with Roland Martin, several radio shows, been a featured cover girl in HerLife magazine, and won numerous awards for top sales and performance in real estate. She has also presented countless seminars on personal growth, forex education, credit building, and various business topics. Her primary assignment in life is to help change the lives of individuals and offer them advice on ways to elevate their financial opportunities. Lorie is not just a party of one when it comes to embracing success on all levels. She extends an invitation to succeed to everyone, and will gladly assist on the journey.

A long-standing presence in entrepreneurship, Lorie was raised in the Washington DC area. She always has a strong work ethic within herself and a desire to study current trends of wealth accumulation. She was nourished by the entrepreneurial spirit of her parents and used that sustenance to fuel her ambitions. By keeping true to her silly, playful, and tell it like it is nature, she continues to break the traditional molds of female entrepreneurs.

what you know."

Lorie Woodruff

Host of Lorie TV

Lorie TV has been an online platform used to discuss real estate, business, and life topics that many could benefit from. The video snippets, airing on YouTube, have captured the essence of "real" topics and life discussions. The birth of Lorie TV came about when clients and friends would ask different questions on various topics. This helped coin the phrase "It's not what you do, it's what you know." Keeping all the resources and history of her career, Lorie TV was created to deliver topics in a straight forward and fun way.

It doesn't matter what line of work you are in, or whether you are self-employed or not. This is going to apply to many!

My goal is to add more value to your precious world and give you tools that you can immediately use to improve your business and life. In a nutshell, we are creating an Extraordinary platform for an Extraordinary you!

"I was always an entrepreneur at heart. Creativity has certainly been a great spin off from my unconventional career choices. I believe you must bring your whole self to the business table if you want to survive in today's game. That includes your personality, your spirituality, and most importantly your sense of humor."

My team and I are committed to not only getting you results, but make learning irresistibly fun.

"Through my videos, you'll learn practical wisdom from me and my featured guests, with a twist of humor."

A vibrant pink ribbon graphic flows across the page, framing the text and adding a dynamic, celebratory feel. The ribbon has a slight 3D effect with shadows.
