WHY NOW? WHY
THE DEEP SOUTH

Founded in 2025, the Deep South FemTech Association™ is a regional initiative advancing women's health innovation across Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina. We unite FemTech founders, public health professionals, investors, researchers, and mission-driven organizations to spark new solutions through tech, collaboration, and care.

MISSION & VISION

To advance women's health innovation in the Deep South through tech, research, and entrepreneurship

VISION

A thriving, tech-powered health ecosystem where the Deep South becomes a national force for innovation in women's health, bridging gaps in care, catalyzing bold ideas, and transforming outcomes.

- 50M+ residents, a large, addressable population for innovation
- Maternal mortality 2x the national average (up to 58.1 per 100K births)
- Black women face 243% higher mortality in the region
- $15.2B U.S. FemTech market, projected to reach $37.35B by 2034
- Region lacks investment, metrics, and coordinated action until now
